EXPERIENCE

LearnVest, New York, NY

VISUAL DESIGNER • PRODUCT MARKETER, June 2015 to present
Managing the external branded experience across various touchpoints, including optimizing acquisition and data collection flows and conducting user research.

TheLadders, New York, NY

PRODUCT DESIGNER, June 2013 to June 2015
Responsible for determining the visual identity of TheLadders' brand over large-scale web sites, email marketing and mobile. Advocate for visual consistency and identity across browsers, screen sizes, and platforms for collaborative, "Lean UX," agile product-engineering work environment. Partner with product managers, copywriters, and frontend developers to deliver innovative, user-centric, measurable, and manageable product experiences across all mediums. Assumed responsibility for the company's creative direction after creative director left.

- Increased registrations/day by 25% and doubled conversions (16% to 32%) with a redesigned homepage
- Designed UX and UI for onboarding experience that resulted in 80% more of users having a more complete profile (and thus a better experience with our product)
- Responsible for the on-going, iterative design work that has resulted in a 24% increase of our NPS rating and an app rating of 4.5/5 stars
- Led the frontend effort to consolidate, systematize and modernize styles across the entire suite of products – two web apps, three iphone apps, and an android app
- Presented visual and interaction design to product and engineers management daily, and weekly to the CEO
- Hosted internal workshop + seminar on UX and Design
- Co-orchestrated a company ideation off-site of 100+ employees
- Conduct and aid in bi-weekly moderated and unmoderated user research

Scholastic (eScholastic), New York, NY

VISUAL DESIGNER • PRODUCT MARKETER, September 2012 to May 2013
Spearheaded marketing and e-commerce testing processes while establishing modular, sustainable, strategic visual design solutions across key marketing touchpoints for Teacher's Store channel.

Saatchi & Saatchi, New York, NY

INTERACTIVE ART DIRECTOR, November 2011 to August 2012
Led the design efforts from concept to final development and expansion of successful fully-integrated campaign with $6.5MM budget – including TV, radio, print, digital and CRM.

Zimmerman Advertising, Fort Lauderdale, FL

INTERACTIVE ART DIRECTOR, August 2009 to August 2011
Pioneered digital initiatives and campaigns for several national clients, and then was instrumental in establishing the agency's first Creative Digital Department – from art-directing and designing online collateral, to developing job processes and hiring and mentoring designers.
